

PEMBROKE TUTORS

Meet Our Teachers

We are flying out some of our most experienced London based professional tutors to Lagos to work with students between April 3 and April 13.

Alex Hatvany

Alex is the co-founder of Pembroke Tutors, and has over seven years of teaching experience.

He graduated from The University of Oxford, where he read Theology. After finishing his degree, Alex trained as a lawyer at a top-US law firm, where he practised before turning to education full-time.

Trusted by many of the top UK independent schools, Alex has a comprehensive knowledge of the UK School and University systems, and has provided outstanding consultancy on admissions, examinations, and routes of progression for students all over the world.

Alex's interests are classical literature and tennis.

Alex O'Connor

Alex was judged as an Outstanding Teacher by University College London, where he completed his PGCE. He received the highest attainment within his department.

Alex has worked at a top London day school for the last two years, teaching a wide range of subjects across the curriculum. He has been a private tutor for five years, and specialises in Maths and Sciences.

He holds the position of Staff Governor and Literacy Coordinator, contributing to the leadership and development of an OFSTED ranked Exceptional school.

Alex's interests outside of work are sport and athletics. He is currently training for an Ironman Triathlon in Austria.

Benjamin Redwood

Benjamin graduated from The University of Cambridge in 2015, and since then has been working as a professional full-time tutor, tutoring students of all ages and abilities across the UK, Europe, and Asia..

He has received recognition for his previous work on Physics and Maths, and looks forward to bringing his speciality skills to Lagos.

Benjamin's passion is literature, and he is a writer of both fiction and essays. An essay of his was recently included in the bestselling book in the UK, Secrets of the Mad by Dodie Clark.
